SAM SHEPARD'S NEW DUI SHAME!

SAM SHEPARD looks like he's lost The Right Stuff!

The 71-year-old actor, who played test pilot Chuck Yeager in the 1983 flick about America's original astronauts, was allegedly flying high on May 25 and got picked up for DUI.

Tequila cocktails

Shepard told lawmen he downed two tequila cocktails and was planning to drive home. But cops say he had trouble taking off - because the emergency brake of his Toyota Tacoma was engaged!

Restaurant security at La Choza in Santa Fe, N.M., apparently saw him struggling behind the wheel and called authorities.

Shepard, who's also a Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright, refused to take a breathalyzer. Cops say he failed a field sobriety test.

"Our officer could smell alcohol on his breath, and he had bloodshot, watery eyes," notes Santa Fe police Lt. Andrea Dobyns.

This is the second drunk driving arrest for Shepard, who was actress Jessica Lange's lover for 27 years and father of their two grown kids. He was busted in 2009, fined $600, ordered to take an alcohol treatment course and put on probation for two years. At the time, he told the judge he'd never drive under the influence again because

"it's not worth it."

This time, he spent a night in jail, pleaded not guilty and was released on $5,000 bail.

An admitted alcoholic, Shepard says, "My history with booze goes back to high school."

He adds that he started going to Alcoholics Anonymous meetings in the 1990s but confesses, "It's a constant struggle. It's like being a junkie."

MARRIAGE COSTS CLOONEY HIS COOL!

GEORGE CLOONEY's wife is wrecking his career!

Now that the 54-year-old hunk is hitched to Lebanese human rights attorney Amal Alamuddin, female fans are abandoning him in near-record numbers.

The latest evidence of his fading allure is Disney's big budget sci-fi adventure Tomorrowland, which landed with a thud. The flick's four-day take over Memorial Day weekend was a disappointing $41.7 million.

And before that, he laid an egg with The Monuments Men, which was released after he started dating Amal, 37.

Backlash

Friends fear the star is taking it on his well-chiseled chin due to a backlash from formerly love-struck females.

"There's no doubt George getting married affected how this film fared," says a source. "He was always suave and even affectionate with female fans. He never minded giving them a hug or kiss on the cheek. Now, he always has Amal on his arm, and that's a turn-off for the gals."

But George isn't about to lay any blame on his wife, notes a pal.

business," explains the pal. "When fans rush up to her and George, she's probably not as welcoming to them as another woman who's more used to the Hollywood limelight might be."

"George believes any true fan would see that he is happily married and should be happy for him. But it seems the gals just liked him better when he was the eternal bachelor. They don't have much interest in him now that he's taken."

ANGRY Prince William is getting revenge on his cheating stepmother Camilla – by forbidding her to visit his royal babies!

As GLOBE revealed exclusively two weeks ago, the evil Duchess of Cornwall was caught cheating on William's father Prince Charles with a handsome actor who's 12 years her junior.

And when word of the affair reached William and his beautiful wife, Kate, 33, he exploded in fury, say insiders.

"He raged that this was the final nail in Camilla's coffin and she'd humiliated Charles and the royal family for the last time!" reveals the insider.

"He told Kate, 'How can we trust her after this? I don't want her anywhere near George and Charlotte! She's banned!'

"William and Kate would be happy never to set eyes on her again!"

He immediately gave orders to cancel Camilla's planned visit to Anmer Hall, their eight-bedroom mansion on the royal estate of Sandringham, where they're raising Prince George, 22 months, and his weeks-old sister, Princess Charlotte.

HOW CHARLOTTE WILL LOOK AS TEEN QUEEN

Infant Charlotte will turn into quite the heartbreaker

THIS is the beautiful face of new-born Princess Charlotte at age 18 (left) as created by a team of forensic computer age progression experts.

The twinkling smile is almost certainly inherited from her gorgeous mother Kate and William's mother, the late Princess Diana.

The image is based on photos of William and Kate, and grandparents, Prince Charles, Diana, and Michael and Carole Middleton, at the same age.

"Like Kate, Charlotte is likely to have a lower lip fuller than the upper one," says

Camilla is not allowed to see the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge's little ones after humiliating Prince Charles

'William and Kate would be happy never to set eyes on her again!'

Instead, the devious duchess received a furious phone call from William that must have blistered her eardrums.

According to the insider, the prince told Camilla, "You will never see our babies. I can never forgive you for making my father look a fool."

Camilla's shameless three-year affair was finally exposed when a grainy image of the duchess, 67, in an intimate clinch with her secret lover, a British TV star, was captured on a security camera smooching in an antique shop.

As GLOBE reported, Charles exploded when it was shown to him.

Says a royal insider, "While Charles accepts that their marriage is a sham, he hates the humiliation.

"He demanded she end the affair immediately, but Camilla refused, daring him to divorce her and fork over $350 million."

'Out in the cold'

But her hopes of finding happiness in the arms of her mystery man may be over anyway.

A source says the actor fears the royal could get him blacklisted and his lucrative stage and TV roles will dry up.

"I'm told he has warned Camilla they must put their affair on hold," says another source.

"So for now, at least, Camilla's alone and out in the cold. And her only chance of seeing George and Charlotte in future will be at official royal events with the whole family present."

The insider says new mom Kate had reluctantly agreed to allow her jealous rival, Camilla, to see baby Charlotte privately for the first time.

Michigan-based expert Jovey Mae Hayes. "The darling dimples come from both mom and dad."

She'll also inherit her mother's cheeks, chin, nose, and lustrous hair.

ISIS UNLEASHING CHEMICAL WARFARE ON AMERICA!

Terror plan to EXPLODE AIRLINERS PACKED WITH KILLER COMPOUNDS in skies over major U.S. cities

IISIS terrorists are plotting the most diabolical attack on America yet – one that would dwarf the death count of 9/11 and put all of us at risk!

The bloodthirsty militants plan to hide an airborne chemical or biological weapon aboard a passenger jet and release its deadly contents on U.S. soil, an intelligence source tells GLOBE.

“Tens of thousands of innocent Americans could be wiped out in one evil stroke,” warns the source. “People could be struck down at work, school – even in their own beds. It’s a chilling scenario – but it’s real.”

The source explains the barbaric group, also known as the Islamic State, is in the process of obtaining a lethal biological agent and the means to deliver it for the mass killing. Intelligence experts say the terrorists are also working to obtain a variety of banned chemical weapons – including nerve gases, hydrogen cyanide and mustard gas – that can fell thousands almost instantly and linger for days.

“If they succeed, it will bring catastrophe to a large American city,” says the source. “No one will be safe.”

Shocking events over Memorial Day weekend could be a forecast of the doom to come. More than a dozen threats of chemical weapons and bombs aboard planes heading for New York, Los Angeles, Atlanta and Boston were received.

In one instance, two fighter planes forced an Air France flight to make an emergency landing at John F. Kennedy Airport on May 25.

Meanwhile, a Saudi Airlines jet from Jeddah, an American Airlines flight from England and two other planes bound for Newark, N.J., all landed safely despite being the target of chilling chemical weapons threats.

Hazmat suits may become everyday wear for Americans

AIRBORNE TERROR

An Ebola victim is carted away in Africa (above). The devastating effects of smallpox or toxic chemicals used by ISIS militants could cause panic

Anonymous tips, which U.S. law enforcement agencies linked to ISIS, said the planes were flying bombs.

Although each incident proved to be a false alarm, the threats are believed to be a test by ISIS to measure how the government will respond to such a crisis.

But the ISIS probe of American and international defenses demonstrates how vulnerable the U.S. is to the kind of attack outlined by the intelligence source.

No warning

The expert says ISIS would likely pack a biological agent or toxic chemical in an explosive device, then detonate it by remote control or an altitude sensitive trigger, spreading the deadly pathogen over an area the size of Rhode Island.

"There will be no warning, and no time to react once the agent is misting in the air around us," says the source.

Counterterrorism agents got wind of the plot by listening to "chatter" between the terrorists. Now, they're trying to prevent the attack.

"The problem is that we don't know when or where it will take place," says the source. "We only know that it's going to come sooner than later, unless we can stop it."

But military experts and intelligence analysts say it is NOT too late to eliminate the threat posed by ISIS – and immediate action by President Barack Obama is needed.

"America – and the rest of the civilized world – have the power to make these fiends back off, but we need the will to do it," says the military expert.

"The President needs to send the message that we're playing hardball. He should order immediate – and massive – air strikes against ISIS targets. We need to step up these attacks."

U.S. intelligence resources also have to step up efforts to keep deadly biological agents like the Ebola virus, which killed more than 8,000 people in West Africa last year, and smallpox out of ISIS' hands.

"We need to pressure rogue governments that might be tempted to sell weapons of mass destruction to balance their own bottom lines," the expert says.

"ISIS is already planning this attack – and is prepared to do anything to get the means to attack us. We have to be just as resolved to fight back and wipe terrorism off the face of the Earth."

Obama must take immediate action to protect the nation

DYING DICK VAN DYKE CONFESSES ALL!

HOLLYWOOD legend Dick Van Dyke is ripping the lid off his shocking secrets in an explosive tell-all book he's penning before he kicks the bucket.

The 89-year-old Mary Poppins star vows to spill the beans about his boozing, his burning love for TV wife Mary Tyler Moore, the woman who kept them apart – and his battle with a terrifying mystery disease.

"I'm not going to sugarcoat anything," the showbiz wonder promises.

Set for an October release, the book – Keep Moving: And Other Tips and Truths About Old Age – will bare the star's gritty battle with booze in the '60s, says a source familiar with the memoir.

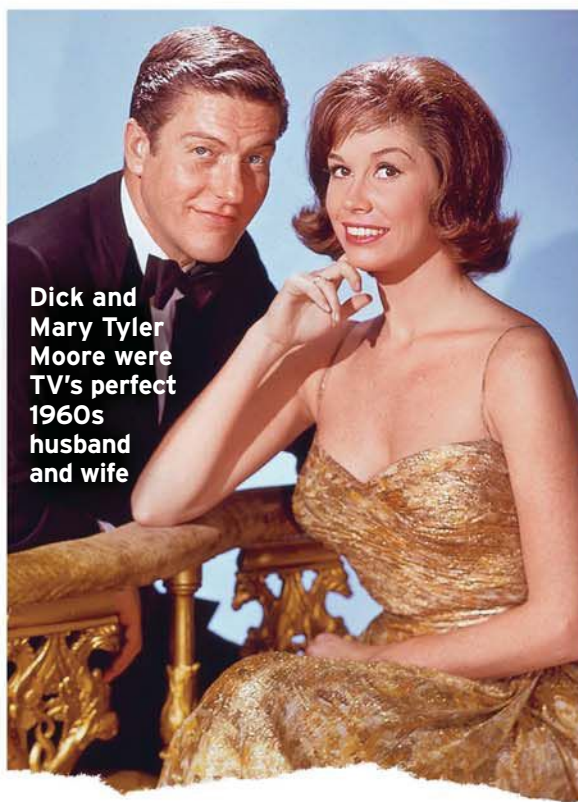

Rehab facility

"He has admitted that he was basically soused for 15 years – though he maintains he was never drunk on the set of his sitcom The Dick Van Dyke Show," says the source.

He finally decided to seek help and entered an Arizona rehab facility in 1972.

"Dick was locked in a ward with hardcore addicts!" says the source. "He'll describe why he drank, and how he overcame the addiction."

The actor also won't hide his secret

Dick and Mary Tyler Moore were TV's perfect 1960s husband and wife passion for Mary Tyler Moore, who played his mate on The Dick Van Dyke Show from 1961 to 1966. She had crush on him, too!

"The chemistry and the sparks were there, but they remained faithful to their spouses," says the source.

At the time, Van Dyke was wed to first wife, Marjorie. Mary was divorcing her first husband, Richard Meeker, and quickly wed TV exec Grant Tinker in 1963.

But Van Dyke and Mary, who is now 78 and bedridden, might have finally gotten together, if he hadn't fallen desperately in love with Michelle Triola.

Michelle and Van Dyke, who filed for divorce from Marjorie in 1978, plunged into an affair while she was suing her ex-lover, actor Lee Marvin, for $1.8 million in palimony. She lost her court battle.

Triola and Van Dyke also never married. However, they remained together until her death from lung cancer in 2009.

"Dick was devastated when he lost Michelle," says the source. "He credits her with getting him off the bottle for good and literally saving his life."

Van Dyke later found new love and wed his makeup artist, Arlene Silver, 43, in February 2012, when he was 86!

"She's 46 years his junior – and he'll no doubt reveal secrets about what it's like to be in a June-December marriage, and how she helps keep him young," the source says. But she can't stop him feeling "helpless" about his feud with TV legend Andy Griffith, who resented Van Dyke's critical acclaim and three Emmy Awards. Griffith went to his grave in 2012 nursing a grudge against Van Dyke, who "wanted to end the bitterness and resolve their differences," a source says. "He felt no ill will towards Andy."

Ravaging illnesses

The funnyman, who wrote a previous book, My Lucky Life In and Out of Show Business, will also disclose his grueling battles against ravaging illnesses including severe arthritis and crippling back pain, the source says.

"He blamed his physical style of comedy, and the pratfalls he took, for his agony," says the source.

"He was only able to control the pain with chiropractors, steroid injections, and heat and ultrasound treatments."

Determined to perform a final time, Van Dyke recently danced in a music video for folk band Dustbowl Revival's tune, Never Had to Go. But insiders say the gig took a toll on the star, who has since gone downhill.

Van Dyke's health is a major concern. For several years, he was plagued with mysterious pounding headaches and was terrified he had a brain disease.

The actor found new love with makeup artist Arlene Silver

Dick's fire-gutted Jaguar in 2013

Later, he learned the cause was his titanium tooth implants.

He'll also describe his escape from death when he was pulled from a burning car after his Jaguar suddenly burst into flames while he was driving on an L.A. freeway in 2013.

"It was terrifying for him," the source says. "Later, he laughed it off, posting a photo of the charred wreck on the Internet with the tagline, 'Used Jag for sale REAL CHEAP!!'"

The source says Van Dyke is writing the book because "he knows his days are numbered and he wants to share his secrets now."

JOSH DUGGAR is a piece of crap!

I don't give a damn if that offends you. It offends me that Joshie is an admitted child molester. And it should offend everyone else too!

I HATE people who hurt children. I particularly HATE child molesters like Duggar, who then try to hide behind God in a desperate attempt for salvation.

And that's exactly what he's done. But trust me, Joshie, God has been on to your bag of BS for a long time. It's just taken the rest of us a while to catch up with the man upstairs.

Joshie, 27, is the oldest of the children who appear on TLC's nauseating hit show, 19 Kids and Counting. In case the title of the show didn't give it away, the Duggars don't believe in practicing birth control.

Hollywood types made Joshie and his family reality TV stars. But it appears Joshie had a little secret that was known to him and certain members of his family. He evidently was molesting underage girls as a teenager - at least five of them!

No doubt some sicko Hollywood exec is already thinking about building a show around Joshie and calling it: 5 Girls and Counting.

But here's what Joshie has to say: "Twelve years ago, as a young teenager, I acted inexcusably for which I am extremely sorry and deeply regret. I hurt others, including my family and close friends."

Hey moron, you hurt a lot more than just YOUR family or close friends! What about your victims and their families? He seems to have conveniently forgotten all about them.

Now, we have presidential hopeful Mike Huckabee saying poor Joshie needs to be shown some forgiveness.

SICKO JOSH

PERV JOSH DUGGAR IS PURE EVIL!

Hey Kelly, next time save your money and help some pups that really need it.

L.A. Animal Services has plenty of pooches - in all shapes and sizes - in desperate need of a home. And they only charge $122 a piece!

For the cash you spent, you could have helped 90 dogs!

Just keep them away from your dad. I hear he tends to bite off animals' heads.

That's all for this week, friends. Let me know what you think!

ALCOHOLIC HILLARY'S CAMPAIGN KEG PARTY!

White House wannabe tempts fate with BREWERY TOUR

HERE's a dumb idea – organize a brewery tour for an alcoholic presidential hopeful! That's what Hillary Clinton's campaign team did on May 22, when they had her participate in a small businesses roundtable at Smuttynose Brewery in Hampton, N.H.

At least the former Secretary of State, who has suffered from booze blackouts, was given a glass of ice water at the event instead of a craft beer, say sources.

As GLOBE reported last week, the Democratic front-runner, 67, is struggling to stay sober – even undergoing a secret detox – as she seeks to become the nation's first female Commander-in-Chief.

"Hillary has been drinking heavily for years to forget her miserable marriage to serial cheater Bill," confides a close friend. "She's also hit the bottle to cope with other stress as well as the boredom of flying all over the world when she was Secretary of State."

The alcohol has apparently contributed to her failing health.

Serious jeopardy

"She's secretly suffered two strokes and is ignoring doctor's orders not to take on the presidential campaign," says the source. "In addition, she has blackouts and wakes up wondering where she is and what she has done."

"It's very scary and has put her hopes of being elected

Party animal Hillary guzzles a beer in Colombia (left), tastes wine in the Black Sea port of Batumi (center) and toasts with a full mug during her failed 2008 presidential campaign

Clinton was all smiles during a tour of the Smuttynose Brewery in New Hampshire

President in serious jeopardy. Even Bill, who is her biggest supporter because he wants to be back in a position of power, is very concerned about her fitness for the job.”

Between Hillary’s failing health and lust for booze, the source says a campaign stop at a brewery was asking for trouble.

“Hillary’s aides made sure she didn’t touch a drop,” notes the friend. “And whenever she asks for a ‘small drink,’ they give her a huge glass of ice water. Every day is a fight to keep her sober.”

The former First Lady’s battle with the bottle seems to be one reason she’s been keeping a relatively low profile in the early stages of the White House race.

“Hillary’s handlers are limiting her exposure to small groups like the one at Smuttynose to minimize the damage if she goes off the rails,” explains the friend. “But the most important thing right now is to keep her from falling off the wagon.”

The Voice Clarifying TV Ears Headset is specifically designed for clear, distinct, TV listening, without turning up the volume. With TV Ears wireless technology, you set your own headset volume and tone, while other TV listeners hear the television at a volume level that’s comfortable for them. You can even listen through the headset only and put the TV on mute if the situation calls for a quiet environment... maybe a family member is sleeping in the next room. Or perhaps you are the only one who is interested in listening to the ballgame.

Doctor Recommended TV Ears! Proprietary Voice Clarifying Circuitry® makes words easier to discern and reduces background noise so television dialog is understandable. That’s why “...my wife and I have used TV Ears almost daily for the past ten years and find them an invaluable help in our enjoyment of television. We would not be without them! As a retired Otologist, I heartily recommend TV Ears to people with normal hearing as well as those with hearing loss.” - Robert Forbes, M.D., California TV Ears is Easy to Use! The transmitter attaches to the audio ports on your television and sends a signal to the wireless headset. The transmitter also charges the headset while it’s not in use. There is no complicated technology to understand and no expensive batteries to replace... just sit down and enjoy the show!

HOLY cow, Reba McEntire is 60! And boy, has she come a long way from the days of helping her father down on the family farm. For more than four decades, the fiery redhead has churned out country hits as one of music's most successful female artists ever. She miraculously escaped a catastrophic airplane accident, but believes she's existed before in another life. Here are 10 things you didn't know about the country queen:

10 THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT REBA McENTIRE

1. Like her mother, Reba wanted to be a teacher and majored in elementary education at Southeastern Oklahoma State University.

2. Growing up, she helped her dad, Clark, castrate bulls and take "Rocky Mountain Oysters" home to her mother, Jackie, who would "slice them thin, roll them in flour and fry them in hot grease in a huge cast-iron skillet."

3. She keeps three things with her at all times: tissues, something to drink, and her cell phone.

4. She was discovered in 1974 at a rodeo in Oklahoma and signed her first record contract several months later.

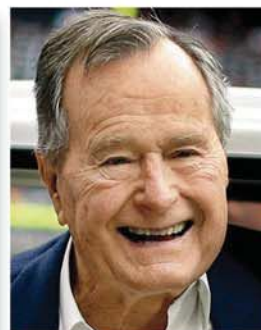

5. Though her 25-year-old son, Shelby, is a race car driver, Reba doesn't like to drive fast.

Reba gives racer son Shelby the thumbs up

6. She never dated anyone for more than 10 months before marrying her first husband, Charlie Battles. She's been married twice.

7. Former President George H.W. Bush is her good pal. "We e-mail each other all the time," she says. "Nothing political, just passing jokes back and forth. He's really into e-mail and so are his buddies."

8. She is into reincarnation! "I believe I've been here before as a man. I believe I've spent time with my son, Shelby, before... and other people in my life."

9. She passed on playing Molly Brown in the massive 1997 hit Titanic. The role instead went to Kathy Bates.

Kate Winslet, Leonardo DiCaprio and Kathy Bates in Titanic

10. A bout with bronchitis, and her second husband Narvel Blackstock's insistence that she get some sleep, saved her from a tragic 1991 plane crash in San Diego. It claimed eight lives, including seven of her band members.

'EXHAUSTED' SHARON'S HORRIFYING COLLAPSE!

WORKAHOLIC Sharon Osbourne is taking a month-long, doctor-ordered rest from TV's The Talk after a terrifying collapse.

Rocker Ozzy's 62-year-old wife shockingly caved from "mental and physical fatigue" at her L.A. home on May 22. She'd just returned to her CBS daytime show following trips to Toronto, Canada, and New York and a recent hospital battle with pneumonia after hernia surgery.

"Her doctors report she is suffering from 'extreme exhaustion' and most likely returned to work too soon after being hospitalized," says her rep.

"Sharon has been advised - and has agreed - to take a month hiatus to recover."

Osbourne has previously battled a myriad of health problems including colorectal cancer in 2002. Sharon also had a double mastectomy in 2011 after learning she had the high-risk cancer gene like Angelina Jolie, who also had both breasts removed.

This Porter, Texas, DUI suspect appeared to pass out during his mug shot. Cops say Christopher Shirley, 20, was asleep in a truck when he "backed into a car" and a witness tried, unsuccessfully, to wake him.

JUSTICE AT LAST!

DESPICABLE doc John Wall was finally convicted of brutally murdering his ex-wife – and then staging it as a suicide – because their oldest son spent his entire inheritance to bring him to justice.

Salt Lake City jurors took just seven hours to find the 51-year-old pediatrician guilty of slaying Dr. Uta Von Schwedler, a noted cancer researcher.

The 49-year-old University of Utah biologist was found drowned in her bathtub, with cuts and bruises and doped up with the anti-anxiety drug, Xanax.

Wall, who'd been locked in a bitter custody battle with Uta over their four children, faces life in prison at sentencing.

Son Pelle, 21, spent the money he inherited from his mom to prove lawmen's original conclusion – that she'd committed suicide – was wrong!

"As I thought about it, my dad's behavior before and after her death, it became more and more apparent to me that he was responsible for killing her," Pelle says.

Wall and sent to live with family friends.

"I thought maybe he would harm them just like he harmed my mom and killed her," he said.

Pelle and his siblings were staying with Wall on Sept. 27, 2011, when the demonic doctor went to Uta's home.

Prosecutors say he "hated" his ex because of her custody fight and was furious with her for texting and e-mailing the children when they were with him.

Wall pounced on Uta while she was sleeping and shot her full of Xanax.

Distraught

Then he faked her suicide, cutting her on her left wrist and leg and plopping her unconscious body in the tub, filling it until she drowned.

Wall's lawyer claimed Uta was distraught, took the drug and took her own life in the tub.

But prosecutors noted she had no prescription for Xanax. Instead, Wall had written one for his grandmother shortly before the murder and never delivered it to her.

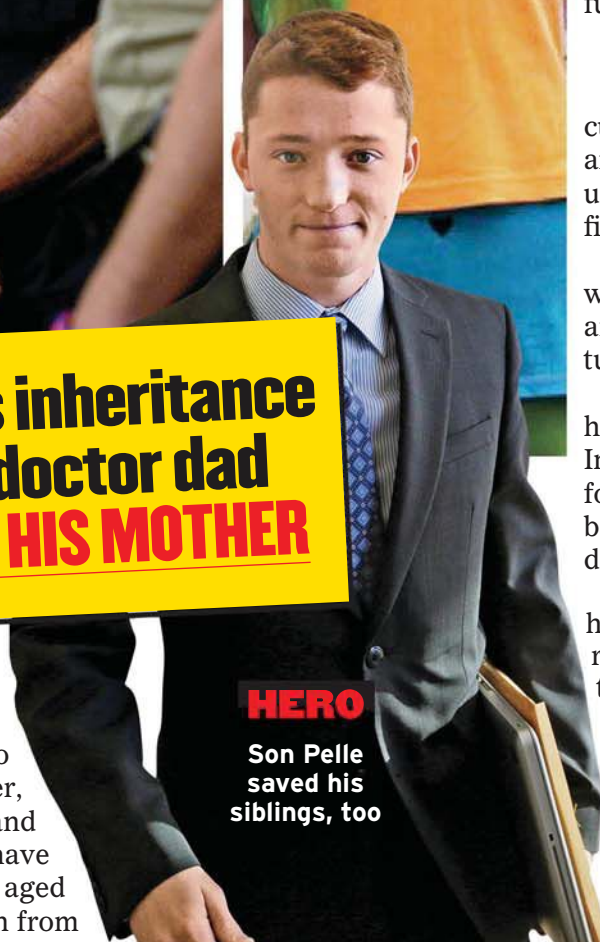

After the killing, he returned home, cleaned up his car's interior and asked his kids if they thought he was a monster.

While he never confessed, son Pelle says he'll visit his dad in prison hoping the killer will finally come clean.

"But I don't expect that he'll answer my question," says Pelle.

Son spends inheritance to prove doctor dad MURDERED HIS MOTHER

As GLOBE reported in a June 2013 article, Pelle was so fearful of his father, he fled the house and filed a petition to have his siblings – then aged 16, 12, and 11 – taken from

CSI STAR
MARG
HELGENBERGER

I NEVER WANTED TO BE AN ACTRESS!

MARG HELGENBERGER has gone from her Emmy-nominated role as blood spatter analyst Catherine Willows on CSI: Crime Scene Investigation to a new mystery, CBS' Under the Dome, where she plays anthropologist Christine Price.

In this interview with a freelance journalist, Helgenberger, 56, who has a son, Hugh, 24, with her ex-husband, actor Alan Rosenberg, talks about ego, sci-fi and her favorite personal qualities.

Q: You were on CSI from 2000 to 2013. What do you miss most about the show?

A: I miss the people of course. They were all like family to me.

Q: So, it didn't take that much convincing for you to come back for the final episode, which airs in September?

Son Hugh with proud mom Marg

Marg, who was nominated for an Emmy on CSI, next appears in Under the Dome (right)

Former CSI partner Eric Szmanda and Marg in action

A: No, it didn't. That show was by far one of the best experiences I've ever had in my professional life.

Q: What was the lure of Under the Dome?

A: Pure ego (laughs)! They said they had written this new role for me. And that's very flattering! And I love the show. That always helps.

Q: Are you a big sci-fi fan in real life?

A: I have to admit I am not a big fan of sci-fi. But once I get into it, I think it's fun.

Q: What qualities do you really like about yourself?

A: I play a character in Under the Dome that is strong and tough and very complex. I like to believe that I have those qualities in me.

Q: Did you always want to be an actress?

A: I never wanted to be an actress! It came to me later in life. I wanted to be a nurse. But then I got coerced into doing a couple of plays in High School, and the acting bug bit me.

Q: What do you watch on television?

A: I am binge watching The Walking Dead right now. It's almost a cult show in the South. And it's so well done. It's very suspenseful. You just need to get past the gore and violence.

Q: Do you think this is your last TV series?

A: TV has been very good to me. I hope it continues. I'd like to do a comedy next. I do think I am pretty funny.

AFTER a stormy failed marriage to tennis hot-head John McEnroe, drug-troubled Tatum O'Neal is hunting for love – with gals!

That gives her something in common with her estranged Love Story star dad, Ryan O'Neal, arguably Tinseltown's most notorious skirt-chaser.

Tatum and dad Ryan

"I like women!" declares the 51-year-old actress. "I definitely have been dating mostly women recently."

One thing she likes is that females are "gentle" – just the opposite of the key men in her life.

McEnroe, dad of her three kids, was famed for his explosive temper tantrums on the tennis courts, and her dad, Ryan, is also known for his short fuse.

Ironically, she says McEnroe's temper attracted her to the tennis ace.

But since her eight-year

Tatum weds testy John McEnroe in 1986

marriage to the former court king ended in 1994, and she lost custody of the kids to him due to her drug use, she's had few romances.

Her last man was New York architect Ron Castellano. They split after a year in 2008.

Tatum's candid confession confirms what GLOBE readers have known for years! In our April 25, 2005 issue we revealed Tatum was caught canoodling with a cutie!

A reportedly booze-soused Tatum shocked diners at New York's Pop Burger eatery when she chatted up a stunning blonde and then began making out with her just outside the joint.

"She started feeling the girl's boobs and rubbing her crotch," said a source. "Eventually, the outraged manager sent out a waiter to tell O'Neal to settle her bill and leave."

Now, Tatum says her sexual preference is "one or the other."

But she adds that women are "more intelligent than the men that I've met recently."

And while she hasn't found Miss Right yet, she says, "I look forward to it."

TV DOCTOR CAN'T STOP WALKING WITH A LIMP!

ACTOR Hugh Laurie got three things from playing TV's grumpy-but-brilliant Dr. House for eight years: fame, fortune – and a limp in his right leg!

The 56-year-old British-born actor, now starring with George Clooney in the Disney flick Tomorrowland, confesses the bum leg he faked for his character on the hit medical drama just won't go away.

"I can't remember any of the lines at all, but when 'action' is shouted, I start limping," he says. "I'm like a dog that's been prodded with electrodes."

The bad leg was key to House's character, making the brilliant diagnostician cranky and impossible to get along with.

Laurie says he had to work hard to drop his British accent and conjure up House's pain from his leg. In later episodes, the doctor became a pill-popping addict.

While "the memory of pain is hard to summon up," Laurie now can't shake the phony limp.

AMAZING
IMAGES SURFACE

52 years after beauty's death

HERE are the last professional photos taken of tragic Marilyn Monroe, snapped by a friend just weeks before the Hollywood queen's shocking death.

Celebrity lensman George Barris snapped the blonde bombshell on July 13, 1962, intending to publish a book about her. But just three weeks later, the Seven Year Itch beauty was found dead of a drug overdose in her Los Angeles bungalow.

Her official cause of death is listed as a suicide. But, as GLOBE has reported, sources insist the screen siren was murdered to stop her from spilling the beans about flings with President John F. Kennedy and his U.S. Attorney General brother Bobby.

Barris scrapped plans for his book after Monroe died. He finally published a limited edition of the photographs 25 years later. Several of the prints were recently slated to be auctioned off in England and were expected to fetch about $1,500 each.

Barris recalls Monroe as "the most beautiful, fantastic person I'd ever met."

Monroe's friend George Barris snapped these photos for a book

With her windswept hair and come-hither look, Marilyn posed for one last shot while wrapped up in a blanket. Photographer Barris recalls, "She puckered up and said, 'This is for you, George,' and blew a kiss to me."

Medical news YOU can use!

WARNING! YOU CAN ACTUALLY DIE FROM A BROKEN HEART!

BROKEN hearts aren't just emotionally painful – they can kill you!

That's the shocking diagnosis from docs, who have actually coined a name for the condition – cardiac microvascular disease (CMD) or Broken Heart Syndrome.

"It's a real phenomenon," cardiologist Dr. Michael Fenster tells GLOBE. "It usually occurs after a huge emotional crisis which leads to an acute hormone surge that affects the heart."

Devastating blows

"You'd think the victims had suffered a major heart attack due to a blockage of the arteries."

"But when you take a look, the arteries are clean."

Emotionally devastating blows like sudden job loss, death of a loved one and

A broken heart is more than emotional, it can lead to a fatal condition divorce can trigger CMD. The stress causes a rush of hormones, including adrenalin, which can tamper with blood flow to the heart and lead to possible heart failure.

"Some people may require drugs and life support," notes Fenster.

Risk factors include age, family history of heart problems, smoking, high cholesterol levels, uncontrolled hypertension, diabetes and autoimmune diseases.

Most of the victims are women over 60. Their symptoms include chest pressure, pain or discomfort in arms, back, neck, jaw or stomach, shortness of breath, profound fatigue, dizziness or nausea.

"For those who survive the initial shock, the prognosis is good with normal heart function restored within a matter of weeks," says Fenster.

Walking stops sugar cravings

+ NEXT time your sweet tooth kicks into high gear, try taking a walk before stuffing your face. A study at the University of Innsbruck in Austria suggests the stroll may help you avoid the snack. Researchers asked participants to walk on a treadmill for 15 minutes, then rest for five minutes. At that point they were tempted with candy and questioned about their cravings. The people who exercised reported having less desire for the candy.

How to take sting out of shots

+ NEXT time you get a shot, hold your breath and it won't hurt so much! Spanish scientists say that holding your breath sparks a stress reaction in the brain that raises blood pressure and deadens the nervous system so you become less sensitive to pain. Researchers found pain dropped a half point on a scale of 1 to 10 for subjects who held their breath while their fingernails were being squashed for five seconds.

NEW BLOOD TEST REVEALS DEADLY ALLERGIES

THERE's new hope for folks who suffer from life-threatening allergies to peanuts and shellfish. A safe and simple blood test can now predict how you'll react - and the extent of your symptoms. The test, known as BAT, can also flag people who are at risk for other common allergies, such as cows' milk, eggs and wheat, by measuring the levels of an immune cell, called a basophil, when exposed to certain foods.

Unlike the uncomfortable and time-consuming skin prick tests currently used to check for allergy responses, the BAT requires only a small sample of blood and offers quick results. It also predicts the extent of your allergic reaction to a substance - and if your life is in danger.

Dr. Ying Song, of Mount Sinai Hospital in New York, one of the lead researchers who developed the BAT, says the procedure is not only accurate, but "much more comfortable" for patients.

REVEALED! BOOZER O'TOOLE'S HOLLYWOOD HAREM

MOVIE icon Peter O'Toole flew under the radar as a ladies man, but the Lawrence of Arabia hunk bedded a slew of screen beauties including Audrey Hepburn and Elizabeth Taylor.

His steamy romp with Liz got him in trouble with his longtime drinking buddy, Richard Burton, his co-star in 1964's Becket.

During a night of guzzling, O'Toole told Burton he'd also been with Liz, adding, "She tells me I'm much better in the sack, at least more reliable than you are."

His boast "shattered" the friendship of the two stars, according to a new tell-all due out June 15, Peter O'Toole: Hellraiser, Sexual Outlaw, Irish Rebel.

Authors Darwin Porter and Danforth Prince write that Liz met and had a fling with O'Toole after

New book dishes on O'Toole

PETER LOST PAL BURTON AFTER BEDDING LIZ

Peter bedded Burton's babe Liz. Below, he also romped with Audrey Hepburn seeing him on stage. She wanted him to play Mark Anthony in her 1963 Cleopatra flick.

The part eventually went to Richard Burton and his affair with Taylor started there on the set.

But the authors reveal that "O'Toole continued to see Taylor romantically for years." The hell-raiser's conquests also included Britain's Princess Margaret, Vivien Leigh, actress Diana Dors and Jayne Mansfield.

But the notorious boozier kept a special place in his heart for Audrey Hepburn, his leading lady in the 1966 flick How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying.

They had a fling before filming started in Paris. Weeks later, Hepburn told him she was pregnant and didn't know if he or her hubby, Mel Ferrer, was the father, say the authors, adding she later miscarried the baby.

The book says O'Toole described the beauty as "delightful, but troubled" and "too good to be true."

OMAR SHARIF RAVAGED BY DEMENTIA

SCREEN hunk Omar Sharif starred in some of Hollywood's biggest flicks, but now the Alzheimer's-stricken actor can't remember them - or what happened yesterday!

The Egyptian-born star of Funny Girl, Doctor Zhivago and Lawrence of Arabia still knows he's a famous actor, but he recently stared at a photo of him with then-wife Hamama and infant son

Tarek and asked: "Who's this?" Sharif, 83, also confuses fans with people he once knew. "Often, he thinks it's someone he knew from before and whose name he has forgotten," says Tarek, 58. "Most of the time it's a fan."

Tarek says the illness makes Sharif, who mainly lives in hotels, "insecure." Because of his poor memory, he often refuses to leave his room. Ironically, he was once one of the Top 10 bridge players in the world, relying on his memory to win tournaments.

B.B. KING MURDER PROBE SPARKS SUDDEN AUTOPSY

THE heartbroken kin of Blues legend B.B. King have forced an 11th hour autopsy – after he was already embalmed and set to be buried – to prove he was MURDERED!

In explosive court documents, King's daughters, Karen Williams and Patty King, BOTH say, "I believe my father was poisoned and that he was administered foreign substances. I believe my father was murdered."

The sisters accuse the 89-year-old icon's business manager, LaVerne Toney, who has power of attorney and is executor of his estate, and personal assistant Myron Johnson, of killing their dad.

Right to be suspicious

The motive, they say, is King's $30 million fortune!

"This one stinks!" Hollywood private eye Paul Huebl tells GLOBE.

The former Chicago cop believes King's kids are right to be suspicious.

"They said they didn't think their father looked like himself when they saw him in his coffin," says Huebl. "That's critical because poisons can distort a person's facial appearance and coloring."

"If he looked different, there might be a good reason for that. The coroner needs to do a heavy metal drug screening to see if he was administered a lethal drug that made him progressively sicker until he died."

Daughters charge Blues LEGEND WAS POISONED to steal his $30 million fortune

B.B. King performed in Anaheim, Calif., last August

Daughters Karen (above) and Patty cry foul play

HOUSE OF BLUES

King's kin accuse manager LaVerne Toney (right) of isolating him from loved ones when he died in his Las Vegas home (left)

The music star passed away in his sleep while under hospice care at his Las Vegas home on May 14. His death reportedly followed a series of small strokes related to his Type 2 diabetes.

But demands by King's family led to a last-second, emergency autopsy on May 24 even though his body had already been embalmed.

Nevada's Clark County Coroner, John Fudenberg, says he will be "conducting a thorough investigation," adding that results of the autopsy will take up to eight weeks.

Relatives claim King was held captive and isolated from loved ones and friends in a shameful bid to swindle his fortune.

In a chilling claim in her affidavit, Patty, who used to live at King's home, swears she saw personal assistant Johnson administer two drops of an unknown substance on her father's tongue during evenings for several months before his death. She insists business manager Toney, 66, never told her what the substance was.

Huebl finds the refusal to answer questions about the drops suspicious.

"Why wouldn't they, if they had nothing to hide?" he says. "The embalming will destroy any typical toxicology testing

King, in his prime, shows his stuff

but not the heavy metal screening, which they should conduct.”

The former cop also finds it strange “that King’s children were kept away from him during his final months. What was happening to this man that his caretakers wanted to cover up?”

Lawyer Larissa Drohobycz, who represents Patty and Karen and most of King’s nine other adult children, accuses Toney of hastening the beloved blues man’s death by “misconduct or by failing to properly attend to his medical needs.”

Meanwhile, lawyers for Toney and Johnson have branded the allegations “ridiculous.” They say Toney gets nothing from the 2007 will other than her standard compensation as executor.

The legal eagles claim King’s daughters made the allegations because the star left his kids and grandkids only $3,000 to $5,000 apiece and willed the rest of his fortune to education.

But Huebl says the autopsy will reveal any foul play, adding that “if the coroner finds organ damage that could only have come from a poison, whoever killed this man must be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.”

THE BEST SOURCE FOR COINS WORLDWIDE™

YOUR HOROSCOPE

For the week of June 15 – June 21

by Emily Hamer-West

ARIES March 21 - April 20

Saturn turning retrograde has you on a roller coaster of emotions – but hang in there! Everything calms down mid-week, when spending time with loved ones has you feeling better! Love energy is strong Saturday and singles could meet someone new. The number six brings weird – and wonderful – luck!

GEMINI May 22 - June 21

You're ready to makeover your life – from cleaning out closets to looking for a new job or partner! Mercury brings information about investments and money management.

The changes you make now can lead to cash flow in months! The weekend brings you face-to-face with a celebrity!

LEO July 23 - August 23

It's time to get out of your rut – and the stars align to ensure you have time and energy to do it! The clinking of coins dropping into your piggy bank cheers your mood and provides enough extra cash for a romantic getaway or to spruce up your wardrobe!

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

Better the devil you know when Venus clashes with the sun as the week begins and you're asked to make a confusing choice. Later on you'll get more information that clarifies things. Go shopping midweek if you need items for your house. You'll get exactly what you want at prices you love!

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

Saying No! can be hard for you but the cosmos nudges you to only agree to things that will speed along your plans for the future. Jupiter's alignment with Mercury inspires a way to earn more money with less work, and if it involves a new partnership, it could mean romance, too!

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

No matter what happens this week, it's not what it looks like! Just let it pass. You're on the verge of a romantic breakthrough – one you've dreamt about for so long. Don't despair if it's postponed, water bearer. It will be worth the wait! A computer search leads to adventure this weekend.

TAURUS April 21 - May 21

While the Gemini sun pushes you to put all your cards on the table, keep an ace up your sleeve in any financial negotiation. Stop worrying about a nagging health problem. Seeking medical advice Tuesday brings a speedy cure! A Pisces pal's love help leads to someone special!

CANCER June 22 - July 22

Taking time for yourself may feel selfish, but it's vital for your wellbeing. Later in the week, show off a talent when the moon's in limelight-loving Leo! Steer clear of arguments with your boss or anyone else in authority. It's best to keep opinions to yourself, especially on Tuesday!

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

Spending time outdoors changes your entire outlook on life now – for the better. Single and seeking? A new love is also looking, but you may not connect until the moon is in Cancer midweek. Don't be a stickler for rules this week.

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

Keep your friends close and enemies closer, especially on Tuesday – the one you trust could be eyeing your job or partner! The secrets you share with a new confidante lead to surprising news of a long-lost relative or old friend! A neighbor can save you big bucks on a needed home repair.

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

An impulse buy could land you in the doghouse when Venus lures you to blow the budget on an outfit or decor item for the house. But extra cash is heading your way, and you'll be forgiven in time for weekend fun with your partner. Exercise is your secret weapon for energy – so start moving!

PISCES February 19 - March 20

Even if you've got an ax to grind with someone you interact with daily, stormy Saturn says: Turn the other cheek. You'll be rewarded later! Keep receipts for anything you buy early in the week – you're likely to change your mind. Follow your nose to romance – try that delicious-smelling new eatery.

JENNER THROWS HISSY FIT OVER FATAL CAR CRASH!

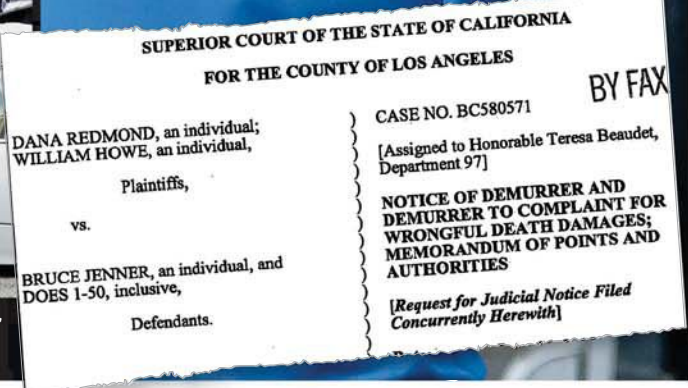

Insists family of gal he hit ISN'T ENTITLED TO DIME OF HIS DOUGH

Kim Howe died in the accident

Cops say Jenner caused Howe to hit a Hummer head-on, sparking a wrongful death lawsuit

THIS may come as no surprise, but sex swapping reality star Bruce Jenner is refusing to “man-up” and take responsibility for the deadly car crash cops say he caused.

The Olympic hero, who is turning into a woman, is flatly refusing to compensate the family of Kim Howe, the 69-year-old woman who tragically died in a Feb. 7 accident on the Pacific Coast Highway in Malibu, Calif. Jenner hit her vehicle from behind, pushing her into oncoming traffic.

Now, the TV sensation has asked a judge to throw out a wrongful death lawsuit filed by Howe’s stepchildren, Dana Redmond, 57, and William Howe, 60. He also reportedly declared they “won’t get a penny” out of him.

Kim’s stepchildren claim they suffered “enormous damages and losses” after Jenner’s SUV rear-ended her Lexus. Her car was then walloped head-on by a Hummer.

In their lawsuit, Dana and William accuse Jenner of being “careless, reckless and negligent,” adding they lost “love, affection” and “financial support” from the untimely death of their stepmother.

But attorneys for Bruce, 65, claim the stepchildren were not financially dependent on Kim for “the necessities of life” and also had little contact with her.

Meanwhile, the Keeping Up With the Kardashians patriarch has not been charged in the accident. He dismissed it as “a terrible tragedy.”

Lawyers for the stepchildren say, “So far, no one has accepted responsibility for the collision that resulted in Ms. Howe’s death. Her children feel an obligation to bring the truth to light and seek justice for Ms. Howe.”

HOLY COW!

KENYA LAWYER OFFERS OBAMA LIVESTOCK TO MARRY MALIA!

PRESIDENT Barack Obama almost had a cow - or more.

An optimistic lawyer in Nairobi, Kenya, is offering a dowry of 50 bovines, 70 sheep and 30 goats in exchange for the hand of the Commander-in-Chief’s 16-year-old daughter, Malia.

Felix Kiprono, who poured his heart out to a Nairobi newspaper, insists this is no joke, and that his love for Malia is the real deal.

“People might say I’m after the family’s money, which is not the case,” he promises.

Reports say Kiprono’s writing a letter of his intentions, which he’s planning to give to the local U.S. Embassy. Obama’s late father was born in Kenya and many people believe the President was born there, too!

Obama and daughter Malia will receive the proposal from lawyer Felix Kiprono (inset)

ANNE MEARA'S DEATH IS KILLING JERRY STILLER, 88

— pals fear

Shattered hubby can't bear to LIVE WITHOUT PARTNER

HEARTBROKEN hubby Jerry Stiller is so devastated over the death of his wife, Anne Meara, pals fear the 88-year-old Seinfeld star is losing his own will to live.

Meara, 85, who teamed with Stiller to become one of show business' most loved comedic couples, died May 23 after a short illness, leaving her husband of 61 years shattered.

"Jerry said so many times he prayed that he would go first because he couldn't imagine life without Anne," a friend reveals.

Health issues

"She was his pride and joy, his confidante, and truly, his best friend."

Adds another pal, "Now we worry how he can go on alone without her."

The couple's son, Ben Stiller, 49, star of Zoolander and the Night at the Museum flicks, and their actress daughter, Amy, 52, are trying to console grieving Jerry, who played George Costanza's cranky dad, Frank, on TV's Seinfeld.

Stiller is also battling health issues including hearing loss and heart problems.

"It's just the worst time imaginable for Jerry," says the pal.

Anne and Jerry first met at a New York acting audition in 1953. Sparks flew immediately.

Comics Jerry Stiller and Anne Meara in their heyday in 1970. Son Ben (below left) is taking time to be with his dad. Anne and Jerry were soul mates in 2010

Suddenly, "personal issues" from her childhood bubbled to the surface, Meara revealed. She was haunted by her mother's suicide, triggered by depression over a hysterectomy.

But she bounced back with Jerry's help. And she was in his corner when he landed his role on Seinfeld after a dry spell.

They touchingly played together on the 2007 King of Queens finale when Anne's character, Veronica Olchin, married Jerry's character, Arthur Spooner.

Now, son Ben plans to take an extended break to be with his devastated dad after finishing work on the sequel to his 2001 hit Zoolander in Italy.

"I know Ben feared it would be like this when his mom passed," says the friend.

"Anne was always Jerry's rock and the biggest fan of his work. How do you replace a one-woman support system that lasted more than 60 years?"

They married a year later, but didn't start their hit comedy act Stiller and Meara until 1961.

They soon replaced George Burns and Gracie Allen as America's top comedy couple, appearing regularly on the Ed Sullivan Show and touring comedy clubs around the country.

Still, the duo broke up their act in 1970, when Ben was still an infant.

Meara says it saved their relationship. They found success on their own. She played Valerie Harper's pal on the 1970s sitcom Rhoda, but her career almost exploded when she suffered stage fright while appearing in the 1993 Broadway production, Anna Christie.

WOLVERINE BLOODBATH!

OBSSESSED with Hugh Jackman's razor-clawed superhero, Wolverine, twisted copycat Jed Allen butchered his 6-year-old sister, his mother, and her boyfriend before hanging himself from a tree!

Police in England say 21-year-old Allen mimicked the X-Man mutant posting a photo showing him wearing long sideburns and brandishing razor "claws" on his fingers – just like Jackman in the movies.

Horried

"I'm sure Hugh Jackman is horrified by this!" says a showbiz source.

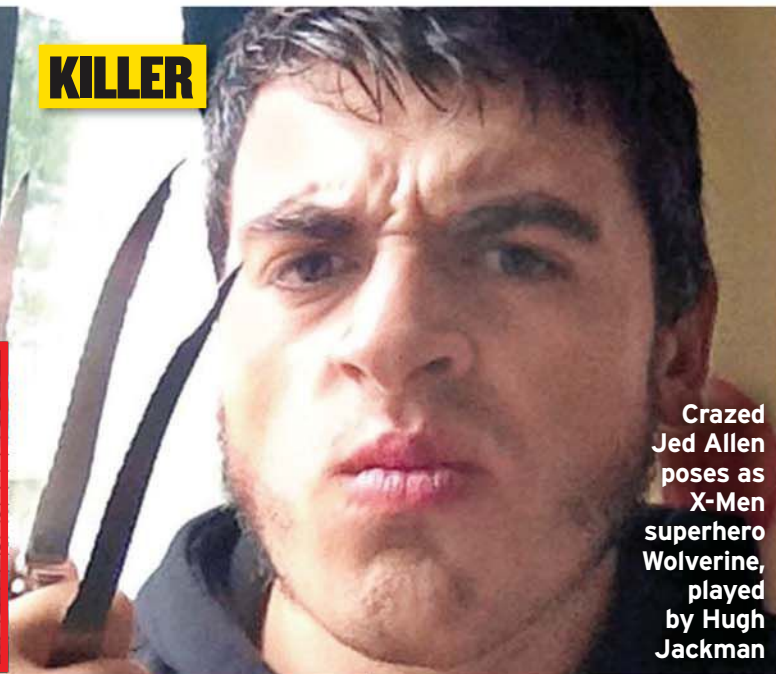

"But there's not much you can do when deranged people blur fiction with reality and act out in horrible ways. Nothing can control that."

Allen went on a bloody rampage on May 23 – fatally stabbing little sister, Derin Jordon, their mother, Janet Jordon, 48, and her boyfriend, Philip Howard, 44.

Then he fled their home in Didcot, 50 miles west of London, after sending a message to a friend saying, "I've done something bad."

After the bodies were discovered, more than 100 police combed the area before Allen was found hanging from a tree in a patch of woods not far from his home.

Sources say he was troubled by his parents' breakup, his boozing mother and her "series of boyfriends."

He was also very upset when two of his siblings were sent to foster homes.

One friend, Mark Cane, described Allen's mother, Janet, as "the best mom and the devil in disguise at the same time. Because of her problems with alcohol, she was a Jekyll and Hyde figure.

"When she had things under control, she was up in the morning, sending Jed off to school, being a normal, loving mother.

"But then she would get drunk and threaten to take her own life."

Sources say the troubled son felt "lonely and unloved" and was "fed up with girls treating me poorly."

He escaped by plunging into fantasy – spending hours watching X-Men and Wolverine movies and playing violent games on his computer.

He also collected knives and an ax. He frequently exploded in rages, punching holes in the walls of his home.

In a homemade video, he screamed into the camera, "This is a madhouse. I can't take it anymore."

While his friend could see Allen finally snapping and going after his mom, he says, "I'll never understand why he killed his little sister."

GENERAL HOSPITAL's Anthony Geary has delivered the devastating news that Luke will NOT be reuniting with his ex, Laura, before he quits the soap this month after nearly 30 years - even though Genie Francis is making a surprise return.

The 1981 Luke and Laura wedding remains the highest-rated soap episode of all time, and loyal fans would love to see them reconcile before Geary leaves. But the eight-time Emmy-winner says it's out of the question.

"Genie and I agreed several years ago that the love of Luke and Laura had run its course," he explains. "They have children together and a storied history, and there's definitely still love there. But I think they're toxic to each other at this point."

Francis has appeared on the ABC show as Laura on and off since 1976, and her return this summer is cloaked in secrecy.

Their wedding in 1981 was a ratings record

Time marches on

NO MORE LUKE & LAURA

Geary, whose final episode airs in late July, adds, "There are still some surprises, twists and turns, and interesting guest stars coming up before Luke leaves town."

The 68-year-old actor says he decided to split before they carry him out of the studio in a coffin!

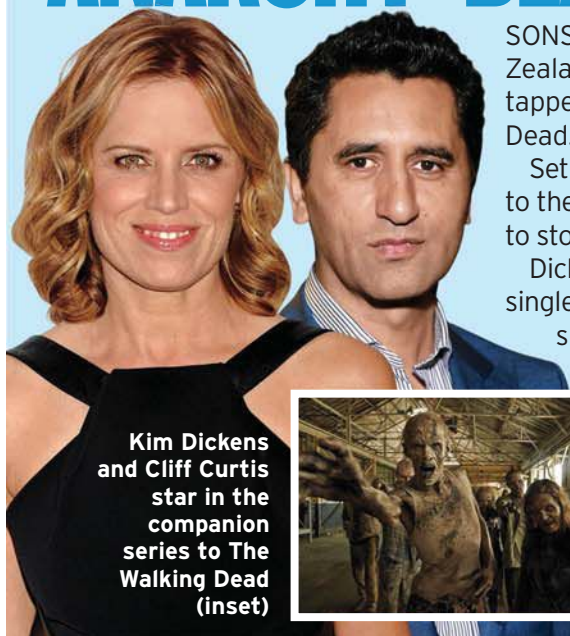

"I'm weary of the grind and have been for 20 years," says Geary, who first joined the daytime classic in 1978. "And I don't want to die, collapsing in a heap, on that GH set one day. That wouldn't be too poetic."

There will be no reunion for the popular daytime couple

'ANARCHY' BEAUTY WALKS ON

Kim Dickens and Cliff Curtis star in the companion series to The Walking Dead (inset)

SONS OF ANARCHY stunner Kim Dickens and New Zealand-born Gang Related actor, Cliff Curtis, have been tapped for The Walking Dead spinoff, Fear the Walking Dead.

Set in Los Angeles, the AMC show serves as a companion to the apocalyptic series, and follows the desperate battle to stop the zombie epidemic when it first surfaces.

Dickens plays guidance counselor Nancy Tomkins, a single mother of two teenage kids who's in a new relationship with divorced teacher, Sean Cabrera (Curtis), who has a brilliant but rebellious teen son.

The upcoming project was created by Robert Kirkman, who penned the comic book series The Walking Dead, on which the hit show is based.

Dickens, 50, currently appears in Netflix's House of Cards, and previously starred in Treme and Deadwood.

MR. T. TAKES UP TOOLS

MIGHTY Mr. T is out to help folks renovate their kitchens and living rooms on the DIY show, I Pity the Tool, named after his classic A-Team catchphrase.

The muscle-bound actor learned brick masonry and cabinetmaking in high school, and then worked demolition jobs before pummeling his way to fame in Rocky III.

"I was hands-on," says the 63-year-old actor "You can't just knock down everything. There might be electrical wiring. There might be a gap open. You have to scout things out. If you do the wrong thing, it's going to be a disaster."

He hopes the show will allow viewers to see his softer side, saying, "I am tough, but deep inside my toughness, I like to let people know I'm an old-fashioned mama's boy."

CRISTELA TAKES AX HARD

CRISTELA ALONZO is reeling over ABC pulling the plug on her sitcom, Cristela, after just one season.

The 36-year-old comedienne, who created the show based on her real-life family, says, "I was sad, angry. This show was very personal to me.

"The setting took place in a real time in my life. I had dropped out of college because I couldn't afford it. My mom got sick. My sister needed help with her kids."

In a message to her fans, she adds, "In real life, this leads up to my mom dying.

"I chose this era because while it was the hardest time of my life, it was also a time I thought a lot of families could connect with."

MOM PUT IN CHAINS FOR SON, 10, MISSING SCHOOL!

Bureaucrats order her arrest for 12 UNEXCUSED ABSENCES

GEORGIA school bureaucrats triggered a hornets' nest of outrage when they had mom Julie Giles cuffed and shackled – all because she kept her Honor Roll student son home when he was sick!

Screven County school officials ordered Giles' arrest after her 10-year-old son, Samuel, who was suffering from a stomach virus, stayed home for 12 days – twice the allowed time.

She received an arrest warrant the day before Mother's Day, and when she turned herself in, cops chained her during booking before releasing her on her own recognizance.

"I have never been in trouble before in my life and my son is beside himself," she says.

Ironically, just days later, star pupil Samuel was awarded a prize as the "student of the month."

Schools Superintendent William Bland defended the harsh action against Julie insisting, "It's important for these children to be in school, and I think the courts recognize that."

But Giles' arrest had the Internet buzzing with outrage.

"I didn't realized it was standard procedure to arrest good parents," reads one angry post. Says another blogger, "I would make it my mission to see everyone involved voted out or otherwise removed from their job."

"The kid is doing well in school and not abused at home? It shouldn't matter how many days he missed."

Thinking of moving

Giles, who has been a substitute teacher, later explained she didn't get a doctor's note for her son because "I cannot afford a co-pay every single time" he's sick.

She says she kept Samuel at home because "I never want to send him to school when he feels bad or could possibly get others sick."

She's due in court on July 14, but says she and hubby Keith are thinking about moving.

"I do not believe that after this my family will be treated fairly in this school system," she explains.

PORKY PUNKY SHEDS 40 LBS OF BABY FAT!

Former TV kid Soleil Moon Frye runs clothes store

FORMER Punky Brewster cutie Soleil Moon Frye is flaunting her curvy figure after shedding 40 pounds.

NOW?

The 38-year-old mom of three slimmed down following the birth of her latest production, son Lyric, who made his debut in February 2014.

"I feel amazing," gushes the 5-foot-2 spitfire.

Soleil has been a busy gal since her days playing Punky on the hit NBC show in the 1980s. Besides raising a family with producer hubby Jason Goldberg, she's appeared in TV series including Sabrina the Teenage Witch, The Wonder Years and Saved By the Bell, directed two films, and she continues to do voice work.

Outside of showbiz, Soleil has penned a parenting book, co-founded a crafting Web site and opened up an environmentally friendly kids' clothing boutique called The Little Seed.

She says, "I wanted to create a place where parents can come and find products that are safe for their children, as well as good for the planet."

'LOSER' ALI WINS LESBIAN HUBBY!

ALI VINCENT is no longer The Biggest Loser!

The TV competition's first female winner has packed back on 45 of the 112 pounds she lost – and just gained a lesbian hubby!

Tied the knot

Vincent, 40, wore a white lace gown as she tied the knot with Jennifer Krusing, who chose a manly white suit for the May 24 wedding at the Waterfront Hotel in Oakland, Calif.

Later, Vincent described her honeymoon eve with Krusing as "the BEST night ever!"

"Life doesn't get any better than this."

Now the host of Live Big With Ali Vincent on The Live Well Network, the reality sensation nearly halved her weight when she won "Loser" in 2008.

The 5-foot-5 gal dropped from a hefty 234 to a svelte 122 pounds and copped

Happy bride Ali holds hand of groom Jennifer Krusing

the $250,000 prize. She's gained back about five pounds a year since, but at 167 pounds, she still does yoga, runs half-marathons and says "the doctor has given me a clean bill of health."

She'd gone to run a half-marathon

But she's GAINED BACK 45 lbs. lost during TV show

when she met her future mate.

"I never thought I'd meet the love of my life later that day," she writes on her Facebook page. "After an afternoon that turned into evening, a lot of banter, possibly a massage and several dares – I for one couldn't deny the connection and building intrigue between Jen and myself."

"It wasn't long before Jen and I realized we had something growing between ourselves."

While she's thrilled with her new spouse, her weight-gain has been devastating.

"Honestly, right now," she says, "I have a lot of shame attached to my weight."

STARS PLAY NAME GAMES!

TRYING to rocket up the showbiz ladder with a name like Reginald Kenneth Dwight sounds like a tough row to hoe.

Maybe that's why Kenneth changed his name to a much more memorable ELTON JOHN.

Here are other celebs who switched monickers in pursuit of stardom:

Pop diva LADY GAGA was Stefani Joanne Angelina Germanotta.

Super Bowl songstress KATY PERRY was Katheryn Elizabeth Hudson.

Oscar-winner REESE WITHERSPOON shortened up from Laura Jeanne Reese Witherspoon.

Sitcom wildman CHARLIE SHEEN was born Carlos Irwin Estevez.

Amanda Lee Rogers was too plain for Scandal star PORTIA DE ROSSI.

Robyn Fenty became pop sensation Rhianna.

There's nothing funny about Caryn Elaine Johnson, but WHOOPI GOLDBERG is a riot.

BROTHERLY LOVE

FOR six seasons, from the debut of Leave It to Beaver in 1957 to the series finale in 1963, TONY DOW (left) and JERRY MATHERS were America's favorite brothers, Wally and Theodore "Beaver" Cleaver. The two continued to work together long after the show's final curtain call, making guest appearances on TV shows and touring the dinner theater circuit. In 1983, Tony and Jerry reprised their famous roles in The New Leave It to Beaver, which featured Wally and The Beav all grown up with families of their own. The show ran until 1989.

Russia's Yolk Hero

The Czar's jeweler was a genius. As the creator of decorative pieces for Russia's royalty, the master craftsman and his assistants created dozens of unique Imperial Eggs. No two were the same and each is now worth a fortune. He invented new jewelry techniques, created bold colors and pushed his elite group of artists to boldly go where even they had not gone before. It's fitting then that we pay tribute to Russia's legendary royal egg art with some innovation of our own. These decorative, enameled eggs evoke the style of the Romanov masterpieces. Regal colors dance among the ornate, hand-painted designs and each egg rests elegantly on a gold-finished, crystal-studded stand. The hinged eggs flip open for storage or display. Inside, we've tucked miniature Egg Necklaces which dangle from a 24" gold-finished chain. Truly eggs-quisite!

Your satisfaction is 100% guaranteed. The famous jeweler worked hard to keep his important patrons happy. When it comes to your purchase, you can count on the same kind of royal treatment. Bring home any, or all five, of our Royal Eggs at $49 each and if you're not absolutely delighted, send it back within 60 days for a full refund of your purchase price. But once you get a closer look at the "eggsquisite" detail, we have no doubt that you'll be back for the rest of the remarkable collection!
